EXTRACTS FROM THE

MEMOIR OF CHARLES DEANE, LL. D.

BY JUSTIN WINSOR.

IN February, 1865, just after he had retired from business and when he was fifty-two years old, Mr. Deane wrote a brief sketch of the earlier part of his life, and brought the narrative down to a time when he had already formed those acquaintances which caused a good part of the enjoyments attending his less active but riper years.

"I was born in Biddeford, in the State of Maine, on the Saco River, Nov. 10, 1813. My father, Dr. Ezra Deane, was descended from Walter Deane, who with his brother John came from Chard, near Taunton in England, and settled in Taunton, Massachusetts, then in Plymouth Colony. My father was born in Connecticut, and after getting his profession of a physician, he removed to Maine, and lived in different places before he settled in Biddeford. When old enough I went to the public school at Biddeford. For a few quarters I went to the Saco Academy. I also attended a classical school kept by Phineas Pratt, formerly preceptor of the academy. When not yet sixteen years of age I went to Kennebunkport to live with my mother's brother, Silas Moody, who kept there a shop, with such variety of merchandise as is usual in 'Country Stores.' It was my duty to open the store in the morning, sweep it out, make the fire when needed, and attend on customers, as I was able. The preaching on Sunday was during my stay there a part of the time at the old meeting-house where my grandfather once preached, and a part of the time at the meeting-house in the village. They were two miles apart. The preaching was orthodox, and my uncle and aunts were of that persuasion. I remained in Kennebunkport about a year and a half, and then I went into the store of Mr. Joseph M. Hayes, of Saco (on Cutts or Factory Island). I was expected to sleep in the store with the older clerk, and to take my meals at Mr. Hayes's house very near the store. I had duties to perform similar to those in my uncle's store, but I had harder work. Saco was a flourishing place, and the York Company's establishment there gave us a good deal of business. I had the privilege of spending Sundays at my father's house and of going to church with the family. I served Mr. Hayes two years, and with letters of introduction from my employer, I visited Boston and New York, in the spring of 1833, with a view to finding a situation. I had a letter to Messrs. Waterston, Pray, & Co. of Boston, into whose employ I finally agreed to go; and entered their store, August 23, 1833, as a salesman. I was then over nineteen years of age. My situation was a pleasant one, and I believe I commended myself to my employers. My agreement for salary was two hundred dollars a year until I should be twenty-one. On arriving at that age I agreed again with them for three years. In 1840 I was advertised a partner in the house of Waterston, Pray & Co., and the next year was married to Mr. Waterston's eldest daughter.

"Soon after this I began to add to my slender stock of books. I date my love and taste for books and reading, in American history especially, from a summer spent in 1843 at Hingham. I found I did not know the distinction between the Old Colony and the Massachusetts Colony, and I desired to inform myself; and soon after I began reading about our early history. I found at Burnham's book-shop a copy of Morton's 'New England's Memorial,' edition of 1721. I bought it and read it. I also bought Young's 'Chronicles of the Pilgrims,' which was published a few years before (1841). I also read Allen's 'American Biography,' the first edition, 1806. I soon after became acquainted with Dr. Alexander Young and Edward A. Crowninshield, who were much interested in these early books, and their acquaintance gave me new zest for the buying of books. I also became acquainted with Mr. Henry Stevens of Vermont, who soon afterwards went to London, where he has acted as agent for American book-buyers. He has sent me a great many volumes, though few compared with what he has sent to other purchasers, like Mr. Brown of Providence, and Mr. Lenox of New York. My acquaintance also with my friend George Livermore has formed a pleasant circumstance in my life.

"Before becoming so much interested in New England history, I had been a good deal occupied with the study of mental philosophy, or that part of it which relates to the freedom of the will, and I had bought and read a good many books on the subject. I had felt deeply that the necessitarians had the best of the arguments. I used as I had the opportunity to converse with my father on these themes. He was a believer in philosophical necessity.

"I wrote occasionally for the newspapers, and intended to preserve such communications for future reference, and indeed have for the most part done so.

"For the past ten years (now February, 1865) I have had considerable to do in connection with the volumes of the Historical Society."

Here the brief sketch ends.

Mr. Deane's business career was a successful one; and when he left his mercantile connections, he did so with the satisfaction of having passed through his commercial experience with credit and an untarnished name.

Mr. Deane's studies early made him familiar with the aspects of those beginnings of our American history which are associated with the banks of the James, in Virginia, and imparted also so much of interest to the diversified shores of New England; and his love of this history never ceased. It is not easy to say whether, in the estimation of scholars, he identified himself more with the problems of the opening years of the Plymouth than of the Virginia Colony. He naturally turned in the first instance to the oldest of the New England settlements; and the scrap-book which contains his early newspaper communications shows a great preponderance of interest in the Pilgrim story.

The reputation which Mr. Deane has left behind him is that of an historical scholar almost peerless among his American contemporaries, if we separate this condition from that of a writer. He has not associated his name with any great, long-sustained piece of historical writing, but he has raised as a monument of his labors the image of an untiring investigator, a conscientious painstaker in research, and an exemplar for judicial fairness.

Harvard College conferred upon Mr. Deane the degree of Master of Arts in 1856; and when the University celebrated its two hundred and fiftieth anniversary in 1886, and representative men from all parts of the country were called to her festival to receive honor at her hands, Mr. Deane stood up before the assembly, and received from President Eliot the designation of "antiquary and historian, a master among students of American history," while he was made a Doctor of Laws. Bowdoin had conferred the same degree upon him in 1871.

He died on the 13th of November, 1889, having just completed his seventy-sixth year.

He was elected member of the Massachusetts Historical Society in 1849, also of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, 1845; Rhode Island Historical Society, 1847; New York Historical Society, 1852; Newport Historical Society, 1854; Wisconsin Historical Society, 1856; Historical Society of Delaware; Long Island Historical Society, 1868; Maine Historical Society, 1870; Virginia Historical Society, 1881; Essex Institute, 1887; American Historical Association, 1884; American Academy of Arts and Sciences, 1866; London Society of Antiquaries, 1878; American Antiquarian Society, 1851; Northwestern Literary and Historical Society, Webster Historical Society, Numismatic and Antiquarian Society of Philadelphia, Harvard Historical Association, etc.

1565 Haklyt, Richard. Divers voyages touching the discouerie of America and the Ilands adjacent unto the same, made first of all by our Englishmen, and afterwards by the Frenchmen and Britons. And certaine notes of aduertisements for obseruations, necessarie for such as shall hereafter make the like attempt. With two Mappes annexed heereunto for the plainer understanding of the whole matter. (Maps in fac-simile.) Small 4° morocco extra, gilt edges. Imprinted at London for Thomas Woodcocke, dwelling in paules Church-yard, at the signe of the black beare, 1582

This volume contains fourteen pieces, of which the following are notable:

3. A verie late and great probabilitie of a passage by the Northwest part of America in fifty-eight degrees of northerly latitude.

5. Letters Patentes of King Henrie the Seventh, granted vnto Iohn Gabote (Cabot) and his three sonnes, Lewes, Sebastian and Santius, for the discouering of newe and vnknowen landes.

6. A note of Sebastian Gabotes voyage of Discouerie, taken out of an old Chronicle, written by Robert Fabian, sometime Alderman of London, which is in the custodie of John Stowe, Citizen, a diligent searcher and preserver of Antiquities.

9. The discouerie of the Isles of Frisland, Iseland, Engroueland, Estotiland, Drogeo, and Icaria, made by M. Nicolas Zeno, Knight, and M. Antonio his brother.

10. To the most Christian king of Fraunce, Fraunces the First. The Relation of Iohn Verarzanus, a Florentine, of the lande by him discouered in the name of his Maiestie, written at Diepe the eighth July 1524.

11. ¶ The true and last discouerie of Florida, made by Captain John Ribault in the yeere 1562. Dedicated to a great noble man of Fraunce, and translated into Englishe by one Thomas Hackit.

The most important piece is the relation of Verazzano, describing his voyage along the coast of North America, which is accompanied by a folding map bearing date of 1582, dedicated to Sir Philip Sidney. This early navigator was the first to enter the harbor, now known as New York, and Narragansett Bay. It is a volume of excessive rarity.

1566 Hakluyt, Richard. Principall Navigations, Voiages, and Discoveries of the English Nation, made by Sea or over Land, to the most Remote and Farthest Distant Quarters of the Earth, at any time within the Compasse of these 1500 Yeeres: Divided into three severall parts, according to the Positions of the Regions weereunto they were directed. First ed. Black Letter. Folio, full antique calf extra, gilt edges. London, 1589

A very good copy with the exception of the title page, which is in a perfect fac-simile. The copy contains Sir Francis Drake's Voyage on six leaves, between pages 643 and 644, and a copy of the Ortilius map of 1570.

On page 776 is an Autograph signature of Thomas Candish (Cavendish), the first English Circumnavigator.

1567 Hakluyt. The Principal Navigations, Voiages, Traffiques, and Discoueries of the English Nation, made by sea or overland to the remote and farthest distant quarters of the Earth, etc. Second ed. Black Letter. 3 vols. folio, calf.

Imprinted at London, by George Bishop, 1599–1600

The first volume contains the Voyage to Cadiz reprinted in fac-simile, (see folio 607), and Vol. III an admirable autotype fac-simile of the very rare map which belongs to copies of this edition, but which is rarely found in them. It is spoken of by Hakluyt in the preface to his first edition as being then preparing by Mr. Molyneau.

Vol. I. was first issued with a title page dated 1598, and containing on it a mention of the voyage to Cadiz, which was published with the book. The title page was reprinted with date of 1599, (as in this copy,) and no mention of the voyage to Cadiz, and the voyage itself castrated. See Oldy's British Librarian copied in Evans' ed. of Hakluyt, Vol. 1.

1568 HAKLUYT. The Historie of the West Indies, containing the acts and adventures of the Spaniards, which have conquered and peopled those countries. Written in Latin by R. LARGE PAPER: only 3 copies believed to be in existence.

This is one of the books, which Ireland, the author of Shakespeare's Forgeries, pretended to have found among Shakespeare's Library, with Shakespeare's signatures on title and MSS. notes in the text.

This book contains the signature in three different places.

George Steevens ascribes this work (noted by him as "so uncommon as to have escaped the researches of our most industrious collectors of ancient publications") to the father of John Milton, the poet. Isaac Reed, however, and Dr. Farmer both consider it the production of John Melton, author of the Astrologaster.

1879 IRELAND. (Shakespeare Forgeries.) Folio. full crimson morocco, extra, uncut edges. (Margin of title repaired.) John Wolfe: London, [1598]

"This inestimable book, a treasure of all the learning respecting the East and West–Indies and the navigation thither, at the end of the sixteenth century, has been in the highest esteem for nearly a century, and was given to each ship sailing to India, as a log-book. Hence the many editions (6 in Dutch, 3 in French and 1 in Latin), which is also the cause why fine copies, especially with all the plates and maps, are so very rare. A large part of the book is occupied by translations of original Spanish and Portuguese documents on geography, ethnography, statistics and navigation, etc., and in these respects it is of the highest importance and authority. The description of America occupies pp. 17–82, of the third part."—F. Muller.

Being an answer to a dialogue intituled The Meritorious Price of our Redemption, etc., (by Wm. Pynchon.) pp. (16), 270, (4). 8° sheep. A. M. for Geo. Calvert: London, 1653

"This book was drawn up by the appointment of the General Court of Massachusetts, at a time when theological hair-splitting in the legislature held the place of modern log rolling. Pynchon's book was forbidden to enter New England under penalty, and this censure was backed, in a long letter at the end, by five of the chiefest of the ruling Elders of Boston, rebuking the English Ministers who had recommended Pynchon's book. Nothing daunted two years later Pynchon hurled at the heads of the General Court, and the Boston Elders another thick 4to book under a similar title."

The Discoverie of the Large, rich and bewtiful Empire of Guinea, with a Relation of the Great and Golden Citie of Manoa, and the Provinces of Emeria, etc., Performed in the years 1595. pp. 112. Small 4° red crushed levant morocco, extra, gilt edges, by PRATT. Robert Robinson: London, 1596

"This book very seldom occurs for sale. This results from the double demand, on one side, in the market for early works of discovery in America, and on the other, from collectors of Elizabethan literature. The great name of Raleigh lends a treble value to his English text as compared with the Latin translation, although the latter is adorned with plates, and very rare. The "Discoverie" is also interesting as having been read by Shakespeare, and as having afforded him matter for illusion. Indeed, the influence of Raleigh's Guiana is found throughout English Literature in the entire seventeenth century."—Quaritch Cat.

[St. Dié,] Septembris, 1507

This rare tract by Waldsee–Müller contains the Latin version of Vespucius' epistle to Soderini, giving a brief account of his four voyages.

"The idea of calling the newly discovered world AMERICA originated with the compiler of the work before us. The suggestion to which we owe our national name will be found on the reverse of the fifteenth leaf." See reproduction.

[Translation.—But now that these parts have been more extensively examined, and another fourth part has been discovered by Americus Vespucius (as will be seen in the sequel), I do not see why we should rightly refuse to name it America, namely the land of Amerigen or America, after its discoverer Americus, a man of sagacious mind, since both Europe and Asia took their names from women:—John Carter Brown Catalogue.]

"The authorship of this exceedingly rare pamphlet, has been attributed to Vincent by the Publishing Committee of the Massachusetts Historical Society, in their note to the reprint of the Relation, in the third volume of their collections."

"It is a narrative of the battle with the Pequods, fought by Captains Mason and Underhill, an account of which was written by the last doughty commander and printed in 1638 under the title of News from America (No. 3573) Vincent's Relation is of even greater rarity than Underhill's. This is attested by the fact that the reprint named was made from a mutilated copy, the imperfections of which were uncorrected in the reprint, from the impossibility of finding a perfect copy for comparison."—Field's Indian Bibliography.

London, 1620–1622

First edition, reprinted in 1622 and 1623, with additions. Translated into Latin and German and included in Hulsius' "Collection of Voyages," Part XX.

One of the most successful in directing the attention of the people of England to Newfoundland, was Captain Richard Whitbourne. He states that he became an adventurer into foreign countries at fifteen years of age, was captain of a vessel of his own in 1588, and rendered good service at the time of the Spanish invasion.

The above contains the First edition of Whitbourne's "A Discourse and Discovery," 1620, and "A Discourse containing a loving invitation both honourable and profitable, etc. Written by Captaine Richard Whitbourne. pp. 1, 6, 46. London, 1622.

It also contains the following letters which were printed in the second edition of the "Discourse," and are here inserted.

"A Letter from Captaine Wynne, Governor of the Colony at Ferryland, to the Rt. Hon. Sir George Calvert, Kt." "Another Letter to Secretary Calvert from Captain Daniel Powell, 28 July, 1622." Captain Wynne to Secretary Calvert with "the names that stay with me this yeere." "Letter from N. H., a Gentleman living in Newfoundland, to a worthy friend W. P."
